I highly recommend Astrid Braungart as an executive coach and trainer. Under her lead, I attended (online) a 12-week professional development workshop under the auspices of the DAA. I also attended two seminars that Astrid specifically conceived for female professionals. I'm so glad I did it!

I learned so many things about crucial themes of modern work-life, such as conflict management, team work and motivation, among others. But for all, I learned about my own values and how to position myself as a top performer. This was a needed reset into „my old ways of thinking“. This ended up with me landing the job that I really wanted. I could not have done it without Astrid.
