I had the pleasure to assist to Astrid's 3-month long group coaching that helped me organize and refresh my working life.

Astrid made the virtual classroom a welcome place to talk and be. She gave us well researched information and opened a space for discussing the topics in relation with our live and work experience.

I learned deeper about how I work, what is important for me and how to integrate myself better in the working space.

Astrid is a very motivated and engaged coach that loves to communicate and help other to come forward in the career and life. I am very happy she was my couch for this period. Thank you!

I would recommend her to anyone looking for someone to support and help them change their life.
